

Starfire 1e/2e Counters font notes.

This is a heavily kerned font. It's optimized for Mac OS X...

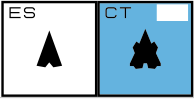

The way it works is that the various counter parts are individual glyphs, but in certain combinations, they collapse into a single image. In Apple's Pages, these can be colored differently to make full color counters the sequence is lowercase background fill, Uppercase Symbol and Type, Option-numbers for hundreds, shifted numbers for tens, and unshifted numbers for ones place.

Making counters from the printout is easy. Glue (using a thin layer of white wood glue) to cardboard from a cereal box. Then, after it dries, get some clear packaging tape. Cut each 3-row stick off. Cover the stick with tape. With an exacto, cut the counters apart. Or, print on 110 lb stock, cut the sticks, laminate the front with one layer of tape, and the back with 3-4 layers. (The extras are simply for thickness.)
